Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from France.

Clermont, Sept. 16. N. S.

HE Prince and Bishop of Liege wrote an Answer to his Prussian Majesty, three Days after his Majesty's Letter, as follows:

S I R E,

The Rights of Sovereignty which have been exercised by the Bishops of Liege for above a Century, that Part of Herital which is situate on this Side the Meuse, were yielded to my Church by the Emperor Charles V. by virtue of Decrees of Exchange in 1546 and 1548, with the Consent of the States of the Principality of Liege, and under the Warranty of the Crowns of France and Spain: The Princes of Liege have since that Time preserv'd the territorial Superiority over that Part so yielded as a fief, in the same Manner as the Dukes of Brabant have preserv'd the Enjoyment of the other Part. I have, in like Manner, continued to maintain my Rights and Possession, without ever intending to infringe those of the King of Prussia, of glorious Memory, as Lord of that Barony, which and his Predecessors held in Fee of my Feodal Lord of Liege, and that of Brabant. As to the Habituants of Herital, I assur'd his late Prussian Majesty more than once, that as soon as the Commissions and Informations were laid before me, instead of protecting them, I would see strict Justice done according to the Laws of the Country: I have to the Honour to repeat the same Assurances, and put an End to all Disputes, I declare that my purchase of the Principality of Liege having proposed purchase your Majesty's Title to Herital for 20000 Crowns, for which they offer to pay four per Cent. Interest. I am ready to conclude a Barony on the same Foot, on condition of giving a proper Security. I have the Honour to be with respect, &c.

Sept. 3. N. S. A Merchant of Leghorn is arrived here from Constantinople, which he left the 10th of July; who says that the New Grand Vizier is disposed in Favour of the Christians, and that he has several Disputes, which his Predecessor had engaged. The Merchant reports too, that as the Grand Seignior was going out to take the Air on the 2nd, when he pass'd thro' the Suburb of Pera, the French Ambassador's Palace, where his Excellency's Guards and Domesticks were drawn up in a line to do Honour to his Highness, one of the Domesticks was so imprudent as to fire his Piece; which the Grand Seignior's Horse curvet to such a degree that he had like to have fallen off, and the Ambassador's Men were in great Danger of being cut off by the Guards, had it not been for his Excellency's Representations in favour of his Domestick, the Grand Seignior's Order to restrain the Fury of his Guards.

Sept. 10. N. S. The Room in which the Turkish Ambassador had his Audience of the Count de Harbach, President of the Council of War, being wherein the late Prince Eugene of Savoy used to have his Audience, and which was adorned with Fine Pictures, representing that Prince's Victories over the Turks in Hungary, the same were taken down, for fear of disgusting the Ottoman Minister, and were put up in their Room.

Sept. 30. N. S. The Resolution which was form'd by the Gentry, to make a Present to their Majesty for the Queen's Lying-in, may pass for an unanimous Resolution, but in fact it was not. The City of Porto voted first for a Million, and so did the City of Porto; with only this Difference, that they had have 800000 Ducats given to the King, and 200000 for the Child-bed Linnen. The Gentry voted for a Million. Yet there was a strenuous Opposition and great Debates. The Duke de Castella, and the Duke de Muscatola, expatiated a good deal upon the exhausted State of the Kingdom, and the Poverty of the City; saying that the Purse of his Majesty's Loyal Subjects were not answerable to their Loyalty and Zeal for him. Several others of the Nobility spoke in the same Strile: And you may depend on't, that this Free Gift of a Million was granted with so ill a Grace, that 'tis impossible to say whether they who oppos'd it were guided by a true Zeal for their Country, or whether their Opposition was any Thing more than a Spirit of Fanaticism. The King has bought a Gold Cabinet of exquisite Workmanship, valu'd at 2000 Ducats, which belong'd to the late Cardinal Cienfuegos, and his Majesty will put into it the Value of 20000 Ducats in Jewels, and 30000 in Pistoles, which he designs as a Present for the Queen against her Lying-in. The City has also order'd a great Silver Shell to be made for receiving the Infant; and a Gold Vessel to the Value of 25000 Ducats is making here, which 'tis said the King of Poland has bespoke for the Queen his Daughter. The last Letters from Madrid say there will be a Change very soon there in the Ministry, which will probably be follow'd by a Change also here.

COUNTRY NEWS.

Newcastle, Sept. 13. We hear from Durham, that the Hiccups and Gripping that rag'd so much there, and of which so many died, is much abated.

On Monday Morning last, about 3 o'Clock, arose a most terrible Storm of Wind at S. At Shields, the Prince Frederick of Guernsey was drove from her Anchor, and ran foul of several Ships, some of which shar'd the same Fate; and by the Impetuosity of the Wind on her Larboard, she heel'd Gunnel in: The Starboard Midship Port being open to take in Coals, (having at that time four Keels on board) the Water fill'd her so quickly, that she sunk immediately in the Middle of the River. A Customhouse Officer, two Men and a Boy perish'd, two of them in the Cabin, the Sea running so high that none could venture to give any Assistance.

By the Ships from East India, the Company have receiv'd the Deposition of John Dean, the only surviving Person left on Board the Suffolk when she was deserted: By which it appears, That in 4 Days after her being so left, they made the Island of Madagascar; not having had Occasion to pump more than once in all that Time: That having fired up the Ship in the best Manner they were able, they sail'd for the Portuguese Settlement of Mozambique, in order to have got farther Assistance to bring the Ship home; but no Charts or Instruments being left on Board the Ship, in their Passage they had the Misfortune to run on some Shoals, called Bassas de India, where they were wreck'd. Nine chose to continue on Board the Wreck, and seven to seek their Fortune in the Boat, of whom the said John Dean was one; and after having suffered greatly, three of them lived to get to India, where two dy'd: The Survivor, Dean, is expected home in the Harlingfield, Capt. The peculiar Method of dividing Tickets into Shares, of Halves, Quarters, Eighths, and Sixteenths Parts, as practis'd by Mr. Francis Willson, of the oldest Lottery-Office at Charing-Cross, we hear, meets with the greatest Encouragement, as by it Adventurers have an Opportunity of extending their Chance to several different Numbers in the Lottery at a very small Expence, and with the same Safety as in purchasing whole Tickets, which are likewise sold by him as cheap as in any Place whatsoever, he having provided a large Variety of Numbers for that Purpose, as well as to divide into Shares. The Office is remov'd, for the Convenience of Coaches drawing up to the Door, from the narrow Passage at Craigg's Court, to the broad Way directly behind the King on Horseback, next Door but one to the Music Front Gate.

The only true Specifick
For the TOOTH-ACH, and all Disorders of the TEETH and GUMS, which is a sure and infallible Remedy, by its efficacy, causing all the Teeth, formerly loosened or lately contrived for these Purposes.

SINCE one Drop of it is so full and instant Ease, in the most tormenting Tooth-ache, and not only takes it away, but is a sure and infallible cure of the TOOTH-ACH, so as certainly to return.

As only once using it makes the Teeth not only white, assuredly loosens those that are loose, and serves the Teeth from growing rotten, and which is a cure, from becoming worse: It perfectly cures the Gums, causing them to grow up to the Teeth, and in the very Words of this Advertisement, to be in the most beautiful Order, and may be depended upon as a sure and infallible Remedy, and which is to be had of the Author's Appointment, of the Gentlewoman, at the Blue-Possy, in Heydon-Yard, in the Minories, London, &c.

It is neither disagreeable to the Smell or Taste, but preserves the Teeth and Gums from all Manner of Corruption, and Putrefaction, keeps them firm, and in most beautiful Order, and may be depended upon as a sure and infallible Remedy, and which is to be had of the Author's Appointment, of the Gentlewoman, at the Blue-Possy, in Heydon-Yard, in the Minories, London, &c.

But these Inimitable Qualities, and solely known by which it has justly gained such a universal and great Character, have occasion'd, as usual in such Cases, frequent Endeavours to imitate it, and to sell it under other Names, be careful, therefore, to have the true, and may be infallibly relied upon, and which is to be had of the Author's Appointment, of the Gentlewoman, at the Blue-Possy, in Heydon-Yard, in the Minories, London, &c.

Good Allowance to those who take Quæstion for the same.

An Infallible Remedy
For BROKEN-WINDED HORSES.

Which has been published many Years before any Counterfeit.

Forms appeared; and highly commended from one to another. The vast Quantities that have been sold, also verify its Efficacy and Virtues, for it not only cures them; after all other Means have been ineffectual, to a Wonder, in a small time without any Mixture; by attenuating and opening the Glands in the Lungs, dried up, and all the Passages obstructed by dripping thereon, occasion'd by hard Riding. Galls, &c. causes presently a free Perspiration, renewing in the lungs and Length again, as well as ever.

It immediately cures those Horses only a Tick in their Wind, as also all continued Coughs, Colics, &c. being excellent in preventing many other Disorders incident unto them, by maintaining, preserving, and continuing a good Breath.

And in a Word, by this very Medicine alone, many Horses have been made so perfectly sound, that they are now and valued from 10 to 30 or 40 Pounds, which were Broken-winded, could not before be sold for 1 or 2 Pounds.

It is sold at Mr. Sandwell's Toy-Shop at the Corner of Backler's-bury in the Parish of St. Andrew, in the City of London, with Directions for taking it, and no more to be had elsewhere.
